AN EX-CONVICT IS IN CUSTODY HERE

William Chauvick, alias William Wolenorki, aged 26 years, of Polish extraction, an ex-convict and a former inmate of an asylum for the insane, was arrested at the instance of Watchman Snyder of the Y. & O. Coal company, Chauvick being accused of attempting to enter the blacksmith shop of the Y. & O. Coal company at its local mine. The arrest was made by Chief of Police James A. Murphy and Officer Rome Ross, and Chauvick is incarcerated in the borough lockup.

In an interview with Chauvick this forenoon, he said that he did not secure anything at the blacksmith shop, that he only tried to enter for the purpose of getting sleep, of which he was in dire need. He further asserted that he had been an inmate of the Wampum, Wis., State prison for a period of six years; his prison number was 15,901. That while he was an inmate of the penal institution he was adjudged insane and placed in the Wisconsin State insane asylum for two years, afterwards being returned to the penitentiary, from which he was discharged on April 12. The crime for which he was sent to state's prison was that of burglary. While in the penal institution he conceived the idea that perpetual motion was a possibility, could become a re-

Be Sure And Go To Polls On Tomorrow

With the spring primaries but a few hours away, interest in the local campaign has become more pronounced and active as the candidates and their voters to the necessity and importance of going to the polls on April 22. With no opposing candidates for congress the fight in this county centers about those who seek to represent the two legislative districts in the general assembly. There are four Republican candidates in the First district and the same number in the Second district, there being two to nominate in each district. The contest between Moore, Martin, McAllister and Lockhart in the First district has become a bit warm, with no one in position at this time to pick the winners. In the Second district, the fight between Van Voorhis, Heffran, Gares and Townner has been going merrily on for the past few weeks, each candidate making a spirited canvass. Van Voorhis and Heffran claim to have a bit the edge on their opponents, while Townner and Gares are making a hard fight. (Continued on Page Two)

Chairs Needed In M. E. Church On Easter Day

At the M. E. church yesterday the services were most successful. The large auditorium in the morning was being used in the aisles and space in the rear.

The pastor announced two infants and seven adults baptized, and twenty-four members received as a result of Holy Week services.

The pastor cited the greetings at the church, "He is Risen," the Lord's "All hail," the greeting and reply of the later centuries "He is Risen" and "He is Risen Indeed," the greetings of the present time expressed in postal messages and in flowers. The church offers its greetings in the name of the Lord, in the name of the crucified Savior, in the name of the risen Redeemer, in the name of our ascended Master, in the name of our Great High Priest and Advocate.

The cantata, "The Greatest Love," was rendered in that excellent manner for which this choir under the leadership of A. H. Bosson is noted. Seldom is such difficult music attempted in a service of this kind. Less seldom is its rendition so perfect, and its every effect so pleasing, elevating, helpful. The orchestra rendered essential aid. In the evening the pastor preached on the "Easter Message." The choir rendered two specials.

The decorations consisted of palms, ferns and flowers, making the chancel beautiful indeed. Flowers were sent to the sick and aged.

BOY HURT IN ACCIDENT IS DOING WELL

The condition of Baldo Parolino, aged 12 years, who was the unfortunate victim in the Ford truck and street car collision, which occurred Saturday afternoon at 1:55 o'clock at the corner of Eighth street and Fallowfield avenue, is satisfactory, according to Charleroi-Moessen hospital authorities, at noon today. The Parolino boy received lacerations of the scalp when he was thrown from the truck against the front end of the street car "Binky" Latchem, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Latchem of McKean avenue, driver of the truck, was rendered unconscious for a short time from the force of the impact, but was allowed to leave the hospital at once.

Seeing one car proceed up Fallowfield avenue, "Binky" failed to see the approaching second car and crashed headlong into it, as he was driving down Eighth street grade from Washington avenue to Fallowfield. The truck was badly damaged.

An Endowment For A College For Women

The P. C. W. inaugurated a campaign March 11 to secure an endowment and building fund of $1,500,000 for buildings. For over fifty years the P. C. W. has played an important part in the education of young women in Western Pennsylvania. It has the same academic standing as larger colleges, but because of lack of endowment, its financial rating is poor. This endowment is being raised by a college in the front rank of women's colleges of the country. It will make it possible for the college to serve fully the girls in and near Pittsburgh who want a college education, and it will put the college on a sound financial basis. It will mean that Pittsburgh will harbor the one first-class under-nominal college for women in Western Pennsylvania, a thing which means much to the cultural atmosphere of the city.

Many people ask "Why should I give to P. C. W.?" The answer is, "Because, as an American citizen, you should be interested in seeing that an instrument of culture and better citizenship is maintained."

The local alumnae and former students of the College are preparing to raise their quota of $3,050 and are asking the co-operation of the people of Charleroi. Their first effort will be a benefit dance to be given at the Elks club Thursday evening, April 21.

Negro Confesses To A Chief of Police That He Is Guilty of Murder

Pittsburgh, April 21.—(United Press).—James Avant, a negro, of Youngstown, confessed to Chief of Police Edward Rider of McKees Rocks police say that he had brutally murdered Mrs. Elizabeth Stille, 33, of Youngstown, Ohio, whose mutilated body was found several weeks ago in a ravine near her home. A pedestrian notified the McKees Rocks police that the negro had gained entrance to a store in what is known as the "bottom" district. A squad of police surrounded the place and after a desperate fight, subdued the intruder. He was taken to the McKees Rocks police station and lodged on a technical charge. After several hours interrogation, the negro broke down and confessed to the murder, describing vividly the gruesome details of the attack, according to the police.

Avant said that on Wednesday, April 9, he went to the Stille home on the West side of Youngstown and asked the woman for something to eat. He said an argument arose, she ordering him to go away and refused to give him anything. He then picked up an iron bar lying in the yard and struck the woman over the head. He disposed of the body by throwing it into a ravine in the rear of the house. He came to Pittsburgh last night and then went to McKees Rocks.

MACHINES CRASH NONE BADLY HURT

Two serious automobile collisions occurred on Monongahela-Washington pike late Saturday night and yesterday and although the machines are reported as having been filled with passengers none was seriously hurt. About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Dunningville, three miles east of Eighty Four, a car being driven by George Puodizirneves, of Ginger Hill, crashed into a car being operated by Charles Barney of Kammerer. Both automobiles were badly damaged and the collision caused much excitement, but occupants escaped with minor hurts.

According to reports, Puodizirneves tried to pass the machine being driven by Barney while going at a high rate of speed. Puodizirneves' car auto and dragged the latter for about 30 feet.

The momentum of the machines was so great that the car being operated by Barney was hurled into a wire fence along the road and stopped on the edge of an embankment, the course of the car being checked by a post. Barney was pinned in the car but Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Porter, their daughter and her child, of Eighty Four, were thrown out but not hurt. None of the occupants of the

Two Buildings Burn—Home of Mr. and Mrs. James Pendleton, Near Monessen Completely Destroyed—Sparks Fire a Barn

TWO HUNDRED YARDS OFF

Eight Thousand Dollars Is Total Loss—$5,000 On House And $3,000 On Barn—Residence Is Located On Brewery Hill, Just Outside Monessen City Limits

The Monessen Fire Department was called to the scene of two disastrous fires Saturday afternoon within a period of an hour, the first one occurring shortly after 3 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Pendleton, a two-story frame structure located on Brewery Hill, just outside the city limits of Monessen, Rostraver township, which was completely destroyed by fire of unknown origin. The damage is estimated at $5,000. Mrs. Pendleton had gone to the home of a neighbor to visit and when looking out of the window saw smoke issuing from her kitchen. Running to her home, she opened the kitchen door and discovered the entire room in a mass of flames. The high wind fanned the flames and in a short time the house was completely in the grip of the blaze. The Monessen fire department responded but had only chemicals to use in fighting the flames. All the household goods were destroyed with the building.

Soon after the firemen returned to their headquarters, they responded to the second call. This time the flames broke out in a barn owned by H. F. Wilson, located approximately 200 yards from the scene of the first fire. It was evident that the high winds had carried sparks to this structure. Mr. Wilson noticed the fire, which he thought was in the rear of the barn, thinking that some one had built a fire there and only realizing his mistake when he saw the building in a mass of flames. Stock and an automobile were removed but the balance was a total loss, estimated at about $3,000.

Eleanor Duse, Died Today In Pittsburgh; Ranked As World's Greatest Stage Star

Pittsburgh, April 21.—(United Press).—Eleanora Duse, noted tragedienne, died here today.

One actress was 65 years old and was ranked with Sarah Bernhardt as one of the great tragediennes of history, succumbed of influenza at 2:30 a. m., in her hotel suite here, far away from her native land and her former lover.

Duse had been ill two weeks. She was stricken in Detroit after a tour of the Pacific coast and became seriously ill when she reached Pittsburgh. Her condition became much worse last week when she suffered a relapse with the actor Checchi had been dis-solved. It set all romantic Italy at naught.

The poet wrote a number of plays for Duse, in which she scored some success in Italy, but which were a failure on tour in the United States.

The tragedy queen herself was a daughter of the stage, born of strolling players. Her father was Alessandro Duse and her mother Angelica Capelette. The child was born near Venice, October 3, 1859.

Her daughter and her child, of Eighty Four, were thrown out but not hurt. None of the occupants of the Washington County Republicans are especially gratified over the fact that one of the state candidates is the popular and well-known General Edward Martin, and they will strongly rally to his support. The fact that General Martin's candidacy for auditor general has brought enthusiastic endorsements from all sections of the state, makes the local Republicans the more determined to see to it that he shall receive an unusually large majority in his home county. Being possessed of all the elements and characteristics that make for the highest type of public official, as is General Martin, Washington County Republicans feel that it is a privilege, as well as a pleasure, to support him on Tuesday and to thus help the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to obtain the services of one who will render to the people a full measure of official duty and who will conduct his important office with fidelity and honor.

Shakespeare Forgeries Brought Good Prices

The largest collection of Shakespearean forgeries ever assembled, the forgeries of William Henry Ireland in the latter part of the Eighteenth century, over which James Boswell wept tears of thanks and one of which Sheridan bought for production in his theater without suspecting its authenticity, has been acquired by the Rosenbach company of New York in the purchase of the library of Shakespeareana, belonging to Marsden J. Perry.

The Ireland forgeries, as related in the Kansas City Star recently, are the most notorious in English literature and include the supposed manuscripts of such important plays as "King Lear" and "Hamlet," and the pretended discovery of an entirely new Shakespearean play called "Vortigern and Rowena."

These forgeries, which deceived many of the most eminent men of the time, seem all the more remarkable when it is known that the perpetrator was a boy barely eighteen years old. Sheridan paid $1,500 for the rights to produce "Vortigern and Rowena" and agreed to share equally the profits from its production with young Ireland.

The New York Herald quotes Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach as saying:

"At the sale of the elder Ireland's library the Shakespeare papers were purchased by a Mr. Dent, M. P., for $640. This is the first record of their material value. Years later the majority of them—all the better pieces—were acquired by Marsden J. Perry, from whom the Rosenbach company purchased them. The uniqueness of the works and their historical interest have made this value steadily mount."

Ranch Woman Rescued by Intelligent Dogs

Our Animals is authority for one of the most striking illustrations of canine intelligence and devotion of which we have ever read, related by Mrs. Ruby Pettis, a ranch woman at Sherar Bridge, Ore., says Our Dumb Animals. It is that while driving at dusk, from a neighboring ranch, the road was blocked by a curve, and she was pinned beneath, unable to move hand or foot. She was imprisoned for 15 hours. Her shepherd dogs, Jack and Pup (his mother) saved her life from several menaces.

First, they stopped the horses, saving their mistress from being crushed to death by the wagon. Then they burrowed frantically under the wagon, removing from her face the earth that would have suffocated her. They repeatedly repelled the insistent advances of a herd of hogs. They licked from their mistress' face the blood that flowed from nose and mouth, and prevented her suffocation. The crowning work of these faithful animals was to sweep with their paws, from the hole they had dug, the water from a rain that fell during the night, working alternately all night and saving the woman from drowning.

At eleven o'clock the next morning a ranch hand, attracted by the frantic barking of the dogs, rescued Mrs. Pettis.

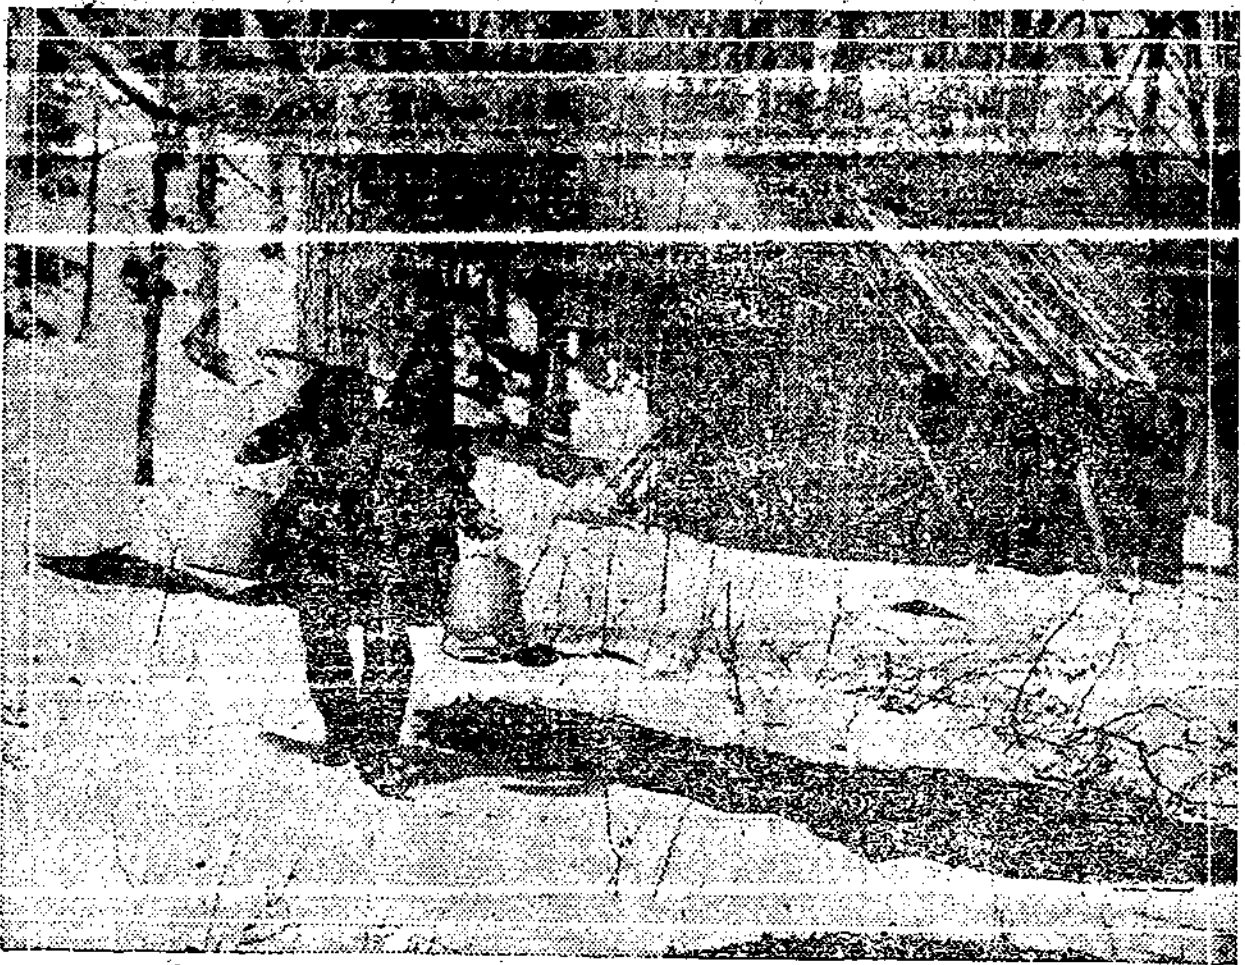

Showing a Tire's Work

An automobile tire company displays in its salesrooms in New York one of the most perfect machines yet devised for demonstrating the working of a tire under road conditions. Mounted on a heavy stand, a big iron drum is driven by an electric motor. An axle and wheel are mounted over the drum, with the tire in contact with it and bearing its weight. The tire is under the same pressure as if on a loaded touring car. The test, a most severe one, consists in driving nails, spikes, etc., into the tire and tube and then running with them in at a rate of about twenty-five miles an hour. The machine is operated by electric power, and is also equipped with a speedometer, which gives a correct speed of wheel, as if in real road use.

New Kind of Milk Bottle

Getting the milk out of a bottle while leaving the cream always has presented something of a problem. The usual method is to pour the cream off; the round-mouthed type of milk bottle makes this method somewhat difficult.

Ray Dunn of Tipton, Ind., says Popular Science Monthly, has now provided the ordinary milk bottle with a small hole in its bottom. A cork keeps this hole closed. When it is wished to draw off the milk, the cork is removed and the milk allowed to flow into another receptacle until it is all gone.

Taxicab Driver Proves

Chivalry Is Not Dead

"Don't offer me money, lady—it's so long since I have been a hero," said a taxicab driver, proving thereby that chivalry has not died.

The girl was dressed to impress a possible employer—that is, in her usual dress and was waiting, and a sudden rainstorm left her marooned in an office building on a Fifth Avenue corner. Taxicabs of all colors, all of them comfortably filled, went shudding past, and for half an hour the girl watched them greedily. Finally an empty cab came along. She dashed for it and jumped in without a word of warning, says the New York Sun and Globe.

"Get up, get up, miss," said the driver, beginning to look frightened. "I've gotta take this cab around to the garage."

"I can't get up," said the girl. "You'll hafta get up," said the driver sternly. "I can't stay here all night—that cop is telling me to move on now."

"Now, man to man," said the girl, looking at him out of black-fringed Irish eyes. "do you want me to get this hat wet?"

He looked at the eyes and then at the hat. It was a pink silk hat, and, like the clouds, it had a silver lining.

"No miss, I don't," he answered. "as far as I'm going and get you another cab there."

Without even throwing the meter he drove off and did not swerve until they reached the taxi barn.

Quintana Roo Better

Than Its Name Sounds

Quintana Roo left a bad taste in the mouths of Mexicans in the days of Porfirio Diaz because it was principally known as the place to which political offenders and "bad Indians," mainly from Sonora, were sent to die and die in its unhealthy climate. But now comes a report telling of the vast natural resources of this practically unknown territory of 18,000 square miles, comprising the eastern part of the peninsula of Yucatan and extending about 300 miles north and south. Data brought to United States Consul O. Gaylord Marsh at Progreso by prospectors, chicle gatherers and archeologists show that Quintana Roo has several ranges of hills about nine lakes and several short rivers. The western part is said to contain wide rolling pampas, the interior is rich in valuable tropical woods and the coast abounds in fish. The soil is reported good for all sorts of tropical and semi-tropical vegetables and fruits.

Of the some 9,000 inhabitants of the territory, 2,500 live in Santa Cruz de Bravo, the capital. Transportation to the interior is lacking, but the recent arrival of an American caterpillar tractor has given the more enterprising coast residents visions of a speedy development.

Life in a Dead Hand

The dead hand is often a busy little mitt in these days of speedy finance. It works a full 24 hours in the day and brings results. We refer to mortmain in a broad sense as signifying funds functioning "on their own," as it were, without the disturbing influence of human timidity and eccentricities.

As the case in point there was the A. Barton Hepburn estate of something over $7,000,000 which, because of the intricacies of its settlement, remained for a few months in process of liquidation, says the New Orleans Times-Picayune. Mr. Hepburn died January 25, 1923, at which time the property was carefully appraised at $7,440,537. Recently an accounting of the executors was approved by the court, showing that since the decedent's passing the increment to his estate has been $1,733,945.

At the present time most of the estate has been distributed, but there are still possibilities of further gains by a kind of retroactivity of the power of money. The proverbial green bay tree has nothing on funds that are wisely placed, in wise control, by those who, realizing their end is near, wish to make wisest provision for their heirs.

RADIO-TELEPATHY.

And now it is proposed to transmit thought by a process similar to that of the transmission of news, speeches and music by radio. Telepathy is defined as the transference of thought from one person to another. Scientists claim to know nothing of the mysterious, hidden process by which this is done or seems to be done, and it is said that most scientists doubt whether anything of the sort is done, yet the news comes that two Harvard psychologists are experimenting with a view to "transmit thought" between Boston and New York and even longer and radio were miracles of achievement which would have been scoffed at as impossibilities by the generation preceding them, but obviously an effort to harness super-material waves passing from mind to mind is a more prodigious undertaking still, the success of which is a thing of doubtful desirability.

The imagination is staggered at the prospect of a time when the literary plagiarist, the thief of inventions, and the sensation-hunting gossip, will need only to arrange their "receiving sets" in order to invade the mind of another, appropriate his ideas and pry into his secrets! Probably the two Harvard psychologists do not aim at so much as this, but this would seem to be the logical and ultimate outcome in case of the success of the experiment now in hand. And what could be more abominably upsetting of the measure of peace still left a world of increasing nervous strain? Already the conservative mind, lamenting the passing of the simple life, is inclined to wish that we could have an end of marvelous inventions and the strain involved in the effort to face and live up to them.

STATE TO SAY

"WET OR DRY"

Harrisburg, Pa., April 21—(United Press)—Tomorrow Pennsylvanians will decide if the state is to be wet or dry.

An off-year primary election—in machine political rule, usually an ordinary affair in the Keystone State—has taken national importance.

Governor Gifford Pinchot, champion of law enforcement, last night said he expected to win and asked all citizens to support his candidacy for Republican delegate at large. At the same time he repeated his acknowledgment that President Coolidge would be nominated at Cleveland in June, and said that he would support him.

The governor made liquor or law enforcement the issue.

His statement was in reply to Congressman William S. Vare, Philadelphia politician who had withdrawn his support from Pinchot because his action in suggesting Francis J. Heney as counsel to aid the committee investigating the bureau of internal revenue was regarded as an "attack on Secretary of Treasury Mellon and the Coolidge administration."

Pinchot said "The Philadelphia organization is regular when liquor is regular—otherwise not."

That there be no doubt of his stand the governor said "I stand for a principle—the principle of honest straightforward, effective law enforcement. You know and I know that every bootlegger in Pennsylvania would love to see be beaten. The issue is right there."

Gov. Pinchot was not unprepared for Vare's dropping of him from the slate of seven regular organization candidates for delegate at large and substituting of Ralph Reister Strassburger, wealthy owner of the Norristown Herald.

"For two days before Vare's statement various organizations whose tenets are liquor law enforcement had come out openly and urged their members to back Gov. Pinchot. They also openly admitted the real issue was 'wet or dry.'"

If these bodies—all in very close touch with the governor—recognized the issue and knew their support was necessary, despite the pledged organization backing, Pinchot also knew he could not count too much on whole-hearted organization support.

Despite the breaking away of the strong Philadelphia unit, the state Republican organization apparently intends to go through with its slate, including Gov. Pinchot.

Senator Pepper has said that he had nothing to say, and that Secretary of Treasury Andrew Mellon, State Chairman W. Harry Baker and Senator Reed would likewise refuse to comment.

Of the state organization's stand Pinchot said "In marked and honorable contrast (to Vare) the state organization stands in its guns and proposes to finish what it has started."

A New Plan
For Out-of-Town Calls

INCLUDED in the rate schedules which this company filed with the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania on April 1st to become effective May 1st is a new plan for calls between Pittsburgh and suburban points.

The present rates are based on the distance from one central point in Pittsburgh to a central point in each suburban exchange area. Thus the rate between Pittsburgh and McKeesport on this basis is 10c.

Under the new plan Pittsburgh will be divided into seven zones, each zone having its own toll rates to suburban points. Toll rates to suburban points will then be based on the distance from a central point in each of the zones.

Thus the new rate between McKeesport and the Braddock, Franklin and Homestead central offices of the Pittsburgh Exchange will be 5c. Between McKeesport and central Pittsburgh it will be 10c, as at present.

This new arrangement will apply between Pittsburgh and all suburban points. It will result in a saving to subscribers and will work out more equitably in many cases where under the present plan the toll rate between suburban communities and adjacent sections of Pittsburgh is 10c.

Certain other rate changes on Out-of-Town calls are made in the new rate schedules.

Many of the Station-to-Station rates which are now 25c or over will not be increased. Where the rates are changed, the increase in most cases is not more than 5c. There is no change on rates of 75c or over.

Person-to-Person calls under the new schedules will be charged for at approximately 40 per cent. more than the Station-to-Station day rates, instead of about 25 per cent. more, as at present. This applies only on calls on which the Person-to-Person rate is less than $1.00.

Showers were a damper on Easter, and in cases, perhaps, milady had her new spring hat ruffled, but despite the vagaries of the weather, the churches of the borough were filled at all the services of the day.

The pastors preached sermons on the risen Lord, making application in their themes to present day conditions as they affect humanity. Flowers and music were features at all the edifices and Easter, 1924, was observed as befitting the momentous and important religious occasion.

PRESENCE OF GUARD PREVENTS A ROBBERY

Pittsburgh, April 21—(United Press)—The presence of heavily armed guards is believed to have frustrated a plan to hold up the pay roll of the Philadelphia company as it was being transported to the downtown section today.

According to a "tip" the company is said to have received, that an attempt would be made to hold up the automobile used in transporting the pay roll and city detectives with the guard of the company accompanied the machine through the downtown section. During the trip nothing occurred, suspicious of the guards.

Armstrong's Inlaid Linoleum $2.98 to $3.59 yd.

Use window shades to tone the light

YOU know how harsh and uninviting a room is when lighted directly by a frosted bulb from the ceiling. An atmosphere of harmony and restfulness is magically produced in this same room by simply substituting a number of softly shaded lamps in place of the glaring electric bulb.

In this same way window shades, if properly selected, soften and tone the sunlight, spreading a lovely mellowness over the room.

We carry a variety of beautiful tone-colors in

Columbia WINDOW SHADES and ROLLERS

These colors tone the light, throwing a glamour over the furnishings and weaving everything in the room into a pleasing symphony of color. Ask to see some of them the next time you come in.

Governor Pinchot Should Be Supported For Delegate

Republicans of Washington county should stand by Governor Pinchot, who is a candidate for delegate at large to the Republican convention at the primaries tomorrow, Tuesday, April 22, not only because he is one of those agreed upon by such prominent trusted state leaders as Chairman W. Harry Baker and United States Senators Pepper and Reed, but because he is being so bitterly fought by the organized bootlegging element in the party.

The lawless forces in the state are seeking to discredit the governor's law enforcement program as well as the governor himself. This is the real reason back of the candidacy of Strassburger and every Republican interested in the welfare of his party, state and national, and especially interested in the enforcement of the prohibition laws and the upholding of the constitution should see to it that they mark an "X" after the name of Gifford Pinchot as one of the delegates at large to the Republican convention.

Support should also be given to Senators Reed and Pepper, W. Harry Baker, A. W. Mellon and Mrs. Elizabeth Price Martin whose names are also on the delegate list and worthy of support of all good Republicans.

the stage in 1863 as the child "Cosetta" in "Les Miserables," and from her earliest years worked with her parents, playing in a variety of pieces. She made a great success in Florence in July, 1882, when she played "Frau Frou" and followed this up with another triumph in "a Dame dux Camillas." In 1883, she made her first appearance in Rome, making a great impression in a number of leading parts. In 1887, while on tour, she scored a remarkable triumph at Milan, playing "Desdemona" in "Othello."

In 1891, she was accorded a splendid reception in Russia and Austria, and the following year created a furor in Berlin in "La Tosca."

She paid her first visit to America in 1893, appearing at the Fifth Avenue theatre, New York, where she repeated her triumph as "Camille." She went from New York to London, where she made her first appearance on English stage at the Lyric theatre in "La Dame dux Camillas" and won instantaneous success.

After appearing at the Drury Lane theatre, London, in 1906, in a benefit performance for Ellen Terry, she retired from the stage, but after an absence of fifteen years, reappeared at the Lyric in May, 1921.

She came to New York again last fall, after an absence of twenty years, appearing at the Century theatre under the direction of Comstock and Gest, where she played a series of matinee performances, including "The Lady from the Sea," "Cosi Sia," and Ibsen's "Ghosts." She received a most enthusiastic reception and at the conclusion of her engagement, signed a further contract with the Selwyns for a tour of the United States.

"Liquor Now Poisonous."
"I never get drunk," he boasted to add. "I never got drunk in my life. But the trouble is the liquor now is not good. It is poisonous."

Aunt Het.
"I'm glad pa is dignified. Ever time I want a new hat I can begin to talk about the way he acted that time he drunk too much blackberry wine."

Marvelous!
WHILE "Doctor Jones is quite a popular M. D., isn't he?" Niles—Yes, he claims to cure thirst without a knife."—New York Sun and Globe

Bones.
The bureau of animal industry says that there are 205 bones in the body of a horse as compared with between 210 and 220 in the body of a man.

Chinese Crops.
Chinese crop yields are more probably average higher than those of the United States because of the highly intensive cultivation methods used.

Probably Is.
Everybody is probably concealing a great deal more than he is telling you; and isn't it better so?
